

www.geobunga.com

4404 Malaai St, Honolulu, Hawaii 96818
P. 808.422.4567 F. 888.990.6363

Calendar Advisory

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Thursday, April 30, 2015

Geobunga Hosts Free Orchid Growing Workshops May 9 and May 16

Learn how to grow beautiful orchids

WHAT:

Geobunga is pleased to offer its 4th 2015 Gardening Workshops Series - "Growing Orchids"

WHEN/WHERE:

- May 9, 9-10am at Geobunga Windward - 41-732 Kakaina St. Waimanalo, HI 96795
- May 16, 9-10am at Geobunga Salt Lake - 4404 Malaai St. Honolulu, HI 96818 (across from Target)

REGISTER:

Space is limited to 50 seats! Register at geobunga.com/workshops

DETAILS:

The public is invited to learn how to transplant, split, prune, arrange and properly care for orchid plants.

"Creating your own orchid arrangement is more meaningful than store-bought flowers, and our May 9 workshop is just in time for Mother's Day," says Geobunga owner Andrew Dedrick. "And if you have a 'black thumb,' we promise to turn it green."

Featured orchids include the Cattleya and Dendrobium varieties, which are great for people who are just starting out, as well as seasoned orchid growers. Various orchids will be available for sale at affordable prices following each workshop.

Geobunga makes it fun, easy and affordable to create beautiful outdoor spaces. Offering unique garden elements from around the world, Geobunga specializes in ceramic pots, stone pavers and benches, decorative rocks and pebbles, fountains, bamboo accents and a large variety of plants. Each visit to Geobunga brings something new to discover, along with the best prices, selection and service in the state. Geobunga offers two convenient locations in Salt Lake and Waimanalo.

Visit www.geobunga.com

FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC**

####

MEDIA CONTACTS:

Charles Bohannon, Media Relations; cell: (808) 990-3421, charles@wordful.com