Geobunga Hosts Free Container Gardening Workshops On June 6 and 13

Learn how to easily grow beautiful and edible plants anywhere

WHAT:

Geobunga is pleased to start its Summer 2015 Gardening Workshops Series with its session on "Container Gardening."

WHEN/WHERE:

- June 6, 9-10:30am at Geobunga Windward - 41-732 Kakaina St. Waimanalo, HI 96795
- June 13, 9-10:30am at Geobunga Salt Lake - 4404 Malaai St. Honolulu, HI 96818 (across from Target)

REGISTER:

Space is limited! Register at geobunga.com/workshops

DETAILS:

Participants will learn why container gardening is a popular, simple and affordable way to enhance any outdoor and indoor space. They'll also learn the numerous benefits of planting in containers versus the ground, including soil and pest control, drainage, space constraints and efficient food production.

"A container garden full of vegetables and herbs gives you more control over what you're feeding your family and can lower your food costs, while teaching your children valuable lessons," says Geobunga owner Andrew Dedrick.

Geobunga makes it fun, easy and affordable to create beautiful outdoor spaces. Offering unique garden elements from around the world, Geobunga specializes in ceramic pots, stone pavers and benches, decorative rocks and pebbles, fountains, bamboo accents and a large variety of plants. Each visit to Geobunga brings something new to discover, along with the best prices, selection and service in the state. Geobunga offers two convenient locations in Salt Lake and Waimanalo.
