

www.geobunga.com

4404 Malaai St, Honolulu, Hawaii 96818
P. 808.422.4567 F. 888.990.6363

Calendar Advisory

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Friday, May 8, 2015

Geobunga Hosts Free Chef's Garden Workshops May 23 and 30

Learn how to grow food for your kitchen

WHAT:

Geobunga is pleased to offer its 5th 2015 Gardening Workshops Series - "Grow Your Own Chef's Garden"

WHEN/WHERE:

- May 23, 9-10am at Geobunga Windward - 41-732 Kakaina St. Waimanalo, HI 96795
- May 30, 9-10am at Geobunga Salt Lake - 4404 Malaai St. Honolulu, HI 96818 (across from Target)

REGISTER:

Space is limited to 50 seats! Register at geobunga.com/workshops

DETAILS:

The public is invited to learn how to grow herbs and veggies to use in everyday cooking.

"A chef's garden saves time and money, limits the use of pesticides and promotes healthier eating," says Geobunga owner Andrew Dedrick.

Attendees will learn to turn their yard, lanai, or windowsill into a garden with benefits of homegrown and ripened food.

Geobunga makes it fun, easy and affordable to create beautiful outdoor spaces. Offering unique garden elements from around the world, Geobunga specializes in ceramic pots, stone pavers and benches, decorative rocks and pebbles, fountains, bamboo accents and a large variety of plants. Each visit to Geobunga brings something new to discover, along with the best prices, selection and service in the state. Geobunga offers two convenient locations in Salt Lake and Waimanalo.

Visit www.geobunga.com

FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC**

####

MEDIA CONTACTS:

Charles Bohannon, Media Relations; cell: (808) 990-3421, charles@wordful.com